

D U S K

D A W N

University of North Florida Foundation, Inc.
Jacksonville, Florida

Involvement Drive '86

"Jacksonville: Dawn"
"Jacksonville: Dusk"
by Larry Smith

Printing courtesy of Financial Printing, Inc.

LAWRENCE V. SMITH

Emmy Award winner Lawrence V. Smith is a photographic craftsman. Whether working in still photography, motion picture film, or television videotape, his contributions to the art of photography have brought him innumerable awards and unparalleled distinction among those in his field.

From television commercials — which in recent years have won him more than 40 major awards — to documentaries for the U.S. Information Agency, Smith has remained an innovative director of photography. His work for CBS-TV during the Cuban Revolution during 1958-59 won him the first of four Emmy Awards. Joining with ABC-TV News and commentator Frank Reynolds, his documentary, "Reflections on Viet Nam," earned a second Emmy, followed by two others for his work on "Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom."

Dawn

Dusk

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH FLORIDA FOUNDATION, INC.

The University of North Florida is a public university providing essential educational programs to serve student and community needs in Jacksonville and northeast Florida. The University offers a variety of four-year undergraduate degrees and graduate programs in business, education, and the liberal arts reflective of multi-dimensional and growing demands.

Because state funds can only provide for basic programs and services, the University, in order to achieve its potential, must seek private sources of funds. Such funds are required for student scholarships, faculty support, equipment needs, library resources, research programs, cultural and other educational programming — in short, a whole gamut of needs appropriate to a total university environment.

The University of North Florida Foundation, Inc., a 40-member trustee board composed of distinguished area business, professional, and civic leaders, was formed in 1972 to assist the University in securing private funds for a number of worthy projects. For the sixth year, the UNF Foundation seeks to acknowledge the generosity of donors by offering an impressive creation by a talented regional artist.

Gifts to the UNF Foundation, Inc., are tax-deductible and may be restricted for specific uses and purposes.